SAMUEL BRAUER, PH.D

Founder of Nanotech Plus, LLC

Co-founder of NanoBiz, LLC

Dr. Samuel Brauer is the founder of Nanotech Plus, LLC and co-founder of NanoBiz, LLC., a forward-looking company committed to helping the world prepare for future viruses and pandemics.

Dr. Brauer was asked to brief members of the NanoBusiness Commercialization Alliance (NBCA), including Washington insiders, about the COVID-19 pandemic since its declaration -

- addressing both the need for antivirals as treatment and the origins of the virus, as well as predicting likely fatalities. His previous work includes looking at the intersection of nanotechnology and biology, and explaining nanotechnology in cancer diagnostics and vaccine adjuvants.

Dr. Brauer has led many projects involving antiviral drugs, psychiatric drugs, Parkinson's Disease cell therapies, alcoholic liver disease, and drug delivery systems. His projects range from due diligence on a carbon nanotube firm, to estimating markets for novel therapeutics -- helping corporations develop new research directions in energy, coatings, and pharmaceuticals. He also worked as a lead market researcher on advanced materials topics including polymer nanocomposites, carbon nanotubes, advanced polymer composites, DNA micro arrays, and in vitro toxicology.
